

The Kingsmen

The Kingsmen Quartet is no stranger to southern gospel music, having amassed nearly 75 combined years of musical service. The musicians who accompany them each night enhance their driving quartet-style of singing. Every member is a gifted singer or musician who excels at his craft, striving for excellence.

It's not merely the musicianship that drives The Kingsmen Quartet. Their mission is not solely entertainment but to encourage every individual who attends their concerts. Whether it be in a song, an entertaining light-hearted approach to a musical number, or a one-on-one conversation with an audience member, The Kingsmen Quartet hope to put a smile on your face, a song in your heart, and make your way just a bit easier. Bass singer and owner, Ray Dean Reese has spent forty-one years singing with America's famed Kingsmen Quartet. The group merges the grand heritage of the Kingsmen with their own music of today. "Eldridge Fox was a great roll model for leading a Quartet. He was an excellent teacher," states Ray. He loved quartet music and would have wanted a Kingsmen to carry on the name and the tradition of Southern Gospel music. The valuable lessons he taught, along with the expertise of Jim Hamill are being put to good use as Ray and the rest of The Kingsmen Quartet set out on this new course.

Recently, the group released their newest project on Horizon Records entitled "Born Again". It includes Kingsmen classics such as "Meet Me at the Table", "Love Will Roll the Clouds Away" and "Excuses" along with new songs like "If I Lived to Tell It All" and "You Keep Praying" which is already making a mark on the charts.

If ever a group could successfully balance honoring the past while forging on toward the future, it is the Kingsmen. With the guidance of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, coupled with the teamwork, dedication and perseverance these men display, The Kingsmen Quartet will be spreading the gospel in song for a long time to come.
